Bob Taylor's Magazine.

The November number of Bob Taylor's Magazine is remarkably well balanced. From the frontispiece, "The First Shot," to "Footprints of Southern Progress," with which it ends, there is a symposium of poetry, story, essay, fact, fiction, fancy and fun that is sure to please all tastes and ages. There is something good for every member of the family; and it is all illuminated by pleasing and appropriate illustrations.

Poems are contributed by Jake H. Harrison, Maie Williams Sperry, Charles Hanson Towne, Jane Baskin, James Hedley and Gilbert A. Eldredge. En passant it may be remarked that the poetry of this magazine is far superior to that which is sometimes contemptuously spoken of as "mere magazine poetry." It is always good, wholesome and understandable.

In fiction this number is particularly strong, including stories by Eleanor Harley, Edwin Carlile Litsey, Homer M. Price, Troy Allison, Claude M. Girardeau, Anne Bankin Osborne, George Fleming Chapline, Dane Coolidge and Jennie Thomas.

Governor Taylor is at his best. His contributions are editorials on "Ambition," "Man" and "Thought and Love," the eighth installment of "The Fiddle and the Bow," and a stirring essay on "German-American Blood." Were there nothing else in his magazine, Governor Taylor's contributions alone would abundantly satisfy his readers, for they possess the stamp of genius and differentiate this periodical from all others.

The essays and departments also deserve their meed of praise, and complete a well-rounded, symmetrical number—a number which confirms the oft-repeated remark that "Bob Taylor's Magazine has made good."

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach causes indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.
